1.0 Purpose

This policy addresses the use of conviction and driving record checks during the employment process, as part of a broader effort to provide a safe and secure environment and protect university assets.

The university recognizes that its interests in investigating employees' backgrounds must be balanced with the need to protect the privacy of employees and prospective employees. Information obtained in the conviction check process is public record and is provided by a third party specializing in gathering this data. However, university policy and state and federal laws recognize the individual's right to privacy and prohibits university employees from seeking, using, or disclosing information except within the scope of their assigned duties. Any information related to personal history, including conviction records, must be maintained in confidence. Only those personnel involved in the employment process should be informed on a need-to-know basis.

2.0 Policy

In order to protect university interests, institutional resources, and the welfare of its students, employees, and the public, it is the policy of the university to conduct conviction and/or driving record checks on all newly hired<sup>1</sup> nonstudent positions for full-time, part-time and temporary/wage positions. This policy also applies to certain student positions and volunteer positions such as those that handle cash, work as resident advisors, or other positions as defined by senior management.

Applicants will be advised in the job advertisement that a conviction and/or driving record check is required as a condition of employment. The conviction/driving check should be initiated after a contingent offer is made. At no time should a non-student employee begin work until Human Resources has reviewed and communicated the results of the check to those making the hiring decision.

2.1 Types of Checks

Employment checks typically consist of conviction checks and/or driving record checks. Additional employment checks such as financial/credit checks may be conducted if job related or required by other laws or policies.

A. Conviction Checks - required for all non-student positions (full-time, part-time, temporary/wage). Human Resources will obtain through a third party vendor or the Virginia State Police.

- a. An employee changing jobs through the competitive process, or adding additional job(s) beyond a primary job through the competitive process, is not subject to a second conviction check if he/she has previously undergone a conviction check with no break in service.

- b. Employees changing jobs through the non-competitive process, or adding additional job(s) beyond a primary job through a non-competitive process (such as Emergency Hire, P14, Sporadic Hire) are not subject to a new/additional conviction check.
  - c. An employee returning to Virginia Tech in any appointment after a break in service of less than 24 months is not subject to another conviction check if he/she had previously undergone a conviction check when hired originally, or at some subsequent point. Any employee returning after a break in service of 24 months or greater is required to undergo a conviction check.
  - d. Hiring officials, in consultation with Human Resources and Senior Management, may designate certain areas or job types that require a second conviction check based on job related duties, even if the candidate falls into category a, b, or c above.
- B. Driving Check (Motor Vehicle Records) - required for all final candidates in a position that requires driving as part of their normal job duties. The employee may be driving a state/university vehicle, a rental vehicle, or their own personal vehicle. The employee must have an acceptable driving record, as determined by the hiring authority after consultation with Human Resources, to drive as part of their job. Human Resources will obtain through the Department of Motor Vehicles or a third party vendor.
- a. An employee changing jobs, or taking on new driving responsibilities, is not subject to a second driving check if he/she has previously undergone a check within the past 12 months.
  - b. Hiring Officials, in consultation with human resources and senior management, may designate certain areas or job types that required a second driving check based on job related duties, even if the candidate falls into category (a) above.
- C. Other checks such as a Financial/Credit report, Civil Actions, or other related reports may be required if job related.

2.1.1 Safety Sensitive Positions Responsible for Public Welfare and Critical Infrastructures

Additionally, some positions have been identified for a fingerprint-based conviction check because the position carries direct responsibility for the health, safety, and welfare of the general populace, or protection of critical infrastructures, as required by Virginia Code § 2.2-1201.1.

2.1.2 Checks on Current Employees

At this time, current Virginia Tech employees will not be subject to retroactive conviction/driving checks, unless the check is required by a state or federal law or university policy. Otherwise, current employees will be subject to future checks as outlined in this policy, only when changing jobs or responsibilities.

Current employees may also be required to undergo conviction and/ or driving record checks if there is evidence that they may have falsified their employment applications when initially hired by the university or have subsequently been convicted of law violations that may be job-related. Conviction or driving record checks may also be conducted when required by state or federal law or university policy.

2.2 Disclosure and Use of Conviction Information

The Commonwealth of Virginia McAuliffe Executive Order 41, Ban the Box reforms state hiring practices by removing questions regarding criminal history from the employment applications. It also reaffirms that (1) a conviction will not be an automatic barrier to state employment; and (2) a conviction will be judged on its own merits with respect to time, circumstances, seriousness and the extent to which it is related to the job. Hiring officials are not allowed to ask about arrests or convictions during the screening/interview process.

Only individuals involved in the search process for Safety Sensitive positions as defined by the Code of Virginia (2.2-1201.1) will be allowed to ask candidates about convictions on the application or during the interview process.

Once a finalist has been selected, a conditional offer of employment will be made to the candidate and he/she will be asked to sign a conviction/driving check release form. This online form will ask the finalist to disclose any previous criminal and/or driving convictions.

Wage finalists will be asked to complete the P12W which requires the candidate to describe any convictions of law violations, including misdemeanors.

Falsification of the release form or the P12W, in addition to the results of the conviction/driving check, may constitute grounds for withdrawing the conditional offer, dismissal, and/or disqualification for future university employment.

Hiring officials may ask about potentially job-related convictions only after the conditional offer has been made and the results of the conviction/driving check are provided. Discussion should be limited to determining the job-relatedness of the convictions. In making the determination of job-relatedness, consideration may be given to the date of the conviction, the frequency and severity of the crimes, the honesty of the candidate in disclosing the information, and the candidate's subsequent work history.

Any information about job-related convictions or falsification of information should be communicated to the Division of Human Resources for further investigation and appropriate action. This policy is subject to the provisions of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA).

3.0 Procedures

The hiring official is responsible for ensuring that the selected candidate completes the necessary paperwork and that a conviction check and/or driving check is completed prior to starting employment.

All conviction and driving record checks on university employees must be coordinated through Human Resources. The cost of conviction/driving checks are paid through a central fund account for all non-auxiliary positions. Auxiliary departments will be charged for the cost of the checks.

3.1 Initiating the Conviction and Driving Record Checks

The hiring department must complete an online request form available through the Resource Guide on the Division of Human Resources website to begin the conviction/driving check. An online paper release form is also available for candidates who do not have access to an active email account. Results of the conviction/driving check are normally reported to Human Resources within 48 hours after the candidate submits his/her online release form.

3.2 Determination of Job-related Convictions

The Department of Human Resources will review the conviction records and/or driving records to assist the hiring official in determining job relatedness. Human Resources will coordinate a review of any job related convictions or driving infractions and make a recommendation to the hiring official. This review may include the supervisor, senior management, Provost, Legal Counsel, and/or the Virginia Tech Police Department. The determination to deny employment to the selected candidate will be made by the hiring manager, in consultation with senior management.

3.3 Emergency Operations

Parts of this policy may be suspended or delayed in the event of a 'state of emergency' declared by the Governor of Virginia (44-146.285) or a 'university emergency' declared by the University President. Conviction/driving checks will still be required, but potential candidates may be allowed to start work prior to the availability of conviction/driving results. Ongoing employment will be determined after the results of the check(s) are received and reviewed.
